

Who we are

2 June 2024

We are a small international team of pilot managers and instructors with a wealth of experience on every continent and in all sizes of organization. From private to commercial aviation, from a turboprop to a business jet, from a Boeing 737 to an Airbus A350, A380 or B747, we form a team driven by a passion for training pilots and maintaining their skills within the strict framework of optimum flight safety.

For almost 25 years, Smartcockpit.com has been a key player in the transmission of knowledge, and each and every one of you becomes a cornerstone as you progress in your flying career!

New information, documentary updates and new quizzes are incorporated into Smartcockpit.com every day. If you visit us regularly, you'll see more and more topics covered by our team.